

Create your own Potato Head character

For World Book Day we would like you to create your own book character potato. This could be any character you like but made from a potato. You can use a real potato, but if you don't have one you can draw a picture of your potato character. Decorate your potato using resources that you have available at home. The choice is yours! You should also have a pair of googly eyes in your home learning pack.

As an extra challenge you may like to complete the favourite book character sheet. You can draw your favourite book character, describe them and explain why you like this person.

Don't forget to send us your work! We can't wait to see your potatoes.
