

Deepening Understanding

LKS2 Instruction Text

This set of questions is based upon the text 'Poo from the Past' by Laura Curtis.

Q1

How far can poo be dated back to?
Tick one.

100 years ago

over 100 years

100 days ago

centuries ago

1 Mark

Q2

'Archaeologists get extremely excited...'
Which word is closest in meaning to 'extremely'?

very exceptionally extra vaguely

1 Mark

Q3

Look at the quotation below. Using the context of the sentence, work out what the word 'replica' means.

'Some people would vomit at the thought of handling poo let alone making a replica of it.'

1 Mark

Q4

Look at instruction three.

Why does it state 'you'll not be eating this' ?

1 Mark

Q5

What impressions do you get of cooking in Tudor times?
Justify your answers with evidence from the text.

Impression	Evidence

3 Marks

Q6

What could happen if archaeologists are not gentle when going through the coprolites?

1 Mark

Q7

Using your knowledge of what the Tudors ate, would you rather live in the Tudor period or now?

Tudor Period

Now

Explain why!

2 Marks

Q8

Look at the 'Interesting food facts.'
Why were the voyages beneficial? Circle one.

they could get rid of unwanted food

they were able to have new food

so they could meet new people

they got to travel more

1 Mark

Q9 Write down two uses the Tudors found for bread.

1) _____
2) _____

2 Marks

Q10 Do you think poor people would enjoy eating 'pottage' all the time?

Yes No

Explain using evidence from the text.

2 Marks

